Mississippi "Pleasant Relations" of Races Fall When Colored Man Sends His Daughters to School in Sleeping Car Drawing Room.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—In the light of the "Commission" report out of Chicago on the "pleasant relations" of races in Mississippi, the story from The Clarion, dated, is a wonder. It says:

"An affair happened in Jackson or rather close to Jackson, Sunday, that has attracted some little attention in the alleged taking of Drumsmond Leonard, a Yazo City Negro, from the Y. & M. Y. train by white men and the administering to him of a rather sound thrashing.

"According to the story Leonard, well-to-do Yazo City barber, desired to send his two daughters to school in Mississippi. Sunday afternoon he took sleeping car accommodations and intended to reserve them at Yazo City, where the agents intended to send him, if a sleeper was desired, but he would engage a drawing room in order that the children would be able to go into contact with other passengers.

"According to the story Leonard came to Jackson, Sunday afternoon, and asked for his sleeper tickets. He was told that the agents would send him. He later to have been obtained a drawing room and placed his children on the A. & V. train.

"Leonard took the Y. & M. Y. train to Yazo City, and when the train stopped, Leonard, a short distance from Jackson, he was said to have been taken off by some white men of this city, carried into the woods and thrashed after the whipping he was told to run and it was made good time obeying order.

"A conversation with a gentleman at Yazo City, last night, revealed that Leonard returned to his home yesterday morning, that his shop had been closed all day and that the incident prevailed he had left the city for good."

ADVISES WHITES TO REPEAL OF UNLAWFUL PAPERS

Virginia Professor Declares They Would Learn the Truth and Be Greatly Benefitted. Says Editors are Temperate Though Resolute; Uncompromising, Yet Dignified.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 29.—Have a heart, good people. The House is divided against itself. It is written, "Thou shalt not divide against thy brother." While Congressmen burn in the opinion that many race newspapers are doing harm, Dr. Robert T. Kerlin, professor of English of the Virginia Military Institute, Lynchburg, Va., makes the following statement to the Associated Negro Press concerning newspapers. Starting in frankness and complimenting to the last degree, Dr. Kerlin says:

"I am reading Negro newspapers—reading them by the dozen, reading them by the score, from all parts of the country, from half the states in the Union; papers of every kind, according to the standards of the day. Let me tell you some of my impressions—the impressions of a white man.

"First of all, I am profoundly impressed by the sincerity of the people in their expression of the wrongs, the discriminations and injustices which are being done to the people by their white neighbors and fellow-citizens. I think, too, so many millions of people constituting a racial unit exhibit such a solid front, such a unanimity of feeling.

"Their reaction to lynchings and the riots of which they have been the victims—the shame of white America—has been that of one outraged and scorned soul, heroic in forbearance and in suffering.

"Then I am impressed by the force and reasonableness of the colored people's contentions—also put forth with absolute unanimity for justice, for recognition for constitutional rights, and for all that as human beings and patriotic Americans and loyal citizens, they are entitled to.

"Such are my impressions, not to proceed further in stating them, that with the white people of America generally might go to reading your papers, and so with a serious mind to get your point of view, to hear you think and feel on the subjects that so vitally concern the people that measures you have to propose to bring about better racial relations.

"I am impressed by the force and reasonableness of the colored people's contentions—also put forth with absolute unanimity for justice, for recognition for constitutional rights, and for all that as human beings and patriotic Americans and loyal citizens, they are entitled to.

THEATRES
PAL WILLIAMS & CO.
BIG HIT AT BOOKER WASHINGTON THEATRE
Good Singing, Continuous Flow of Furious Fun and Variety of Dancing
Ginger Jack Williams' Stars With Trick of Buck Dancers. No Vulgar Expressions or Uncouth Actions.
The combination of performers, under the name of Pal Williams and Company, which was introduced to the Booker Washington Theatre patrons Monday night, has proved to be one of the most entertaining outfits which has ever visited that house. The company possesses all that goes to make up an ideal light comedy connection: good singing, variety of dancing and a continuous flow of furious fun that does not depend upon vulgar expressions or uncouth actions to win applause.
The dancing is the dominating feature and while every member of the well-balanced company seems to possess a special measure of this art, the work of the Williams Trio is exceptionally good. This trio of torpid chorists consists of the famous Ginger Jack Williams, pretty Baby Wiggins and diminutive Chick Cole. When they have concluded their repertoire the patrons have been treated to one of the most varied and artistic back dancing exhibitions on the stage, as well as a dash of real comedy.
The balance of the performance is none the less entertaining. Pal Williams, Frank Tansel and W. Williams keep the fun going. They throw the house into a fit of laughter with a graveyard scene and incidentally score a hit as a vocal trio. Baby Wiggins has an excellent voice and her singing is one of the features. A quartet of singing and dancing girls are always on hand to support the soloists in the several song numbers and their rhythmic movements add to the fun by offering.
Originality, variety and talent are wanting big applause for the combination.
Pal Williams "Dixie Belles" Next Week.
The Booker Washington patrons will be pleased to learn that Pal Williams and Company will remain over next week and present another big offering. Next week's bill will be "The Dixie Belles" and will be completed with another side splitting comedy entitled "The Man of Today". Among the special features will be a special act by the Williams Trio, headed by Ginger Jack Williams, the world champion back dancer, with a record of 45 separate steps in six minutes without a break. In the act next week Williams will dance a contest with the comical little "Black Jeff". The girl is the star. They will also have a round of song singing and dancing numbers with comedy songs. The cast is talented and another big show is assured.
